SECRETARIES OF CONFERENCES AND MISSIONS

The following list of Secretaries, with their post office addresses, is published herewith as an aid to the Bishops and Conference Secretaries in making the transfers of preachers, especially during the time of the Conference sessions. Often they are hindered, if it should be the Fall Conference that is being held, in making the transfer to a Spring Conference, by not knowing to whom to send the certificate of transfer. It is hoped this may be of advantage both to the Bishop and the Secretary.

This list is correct according to the latest information. SPRING CONFERENCES are designated by a (*). FALL CONFERENCES are unmarked.—EDITOR.

DEATH ROLL

Many reports of the deaths come to us in a very imperfect form. The only reason they are as near correct as they are is that we take the Local Minutes and get from the Memoirs all the facts we can find.

May we not have them promptly and as fully filled out as possible.—EDITOR.

IN MEMORIAM

HENRY C. JENNINGS, D.D., LL.D.

In speaking of himself on one occasion Doctor Jennings said that he "chose a good parentage: American, patriotic, Protestant, Methodist, poor." How like many another of whom this is an exact description. With such a lineage he started out to live up to it and to win success from that starting point. How well he did is the story of his life. He toiled in the prairies of Illinois and the frontier lines of Minnesota, and in all places made advances. His life in these years was no holiday event. He saw his father laid in the grave when he was five years old, and was one of three boys left for a mother to care for. That father filled the grave of a young Methodist preacher who had served his first circuit only two years.

At eleven he drove oxen, herded sheep, learned to plow and went to school a little in the winter. The crisis of his life came at sixteen. He was converted in the real old-fashioned way at the mourners' bench at a camp meeting in Minnesota. It not only brought a new experience into his life, but it aroused the desire for more of an education than he had. He went to a school in a nearby town. He had five dollars to start with. That was to him the widow's cruse of oil. Let him tell it. "Out of that five dollars I paid twenty-two dollars for room rent, tuition, books and the supplies for the personal cooking of my food, and at the end of the fourteen weeks' term had three and a half dollars left. Hard work did the rest." Janitor service and various wood piles in the town.

He taught school. Tried as a student to do two years in one; broke down in health and feared his career was ended. The Presiding Elder urged him to supply a charge, which he did. Then he was urged to join the Conference, but he was hungry for more of an education, but they said, "Preachers are scarce." He went into the Conference and kept up his habits of study, and each year grew until he was serving some of their best charges. Then for two years he was a Presiding Elder. In May, 1896, he was made a Publishing Agent of the Western Methodist Book Concern.

Doctor Jennings made a good Publishing Agent. He had good business sense; he was a genial man among men. Where firmness was needed, he had it; where hard work was necessary in solving problems he put it in. He saw the Publishing interests of the church largely increase. During his term of twenty-four years of service he saw as one of the results $4,602,857 paid over to the Conferences for the Support of Conference Claimants. In that time they sent out multiplied millions of books and periodicals to bless the world.

In 1920, in a broken condition of body, he retired. He fought the battle for a longer life, but on November 9, 1927, the death messenger called and he went home to God. It will be a long time before his friends cease to mourn for him.

ONE OF GOD'S NOBLE MEN

WILLIAM VALENTINE KELLEY, D.D., LL.D.

One of the great men of Methodism went away when Rev. William Valentine Kelley, D.D., LL.D., died in Maplewood, N. J., on Wednesday evening, December 14, 1927. He was born in the Methodist parsonage in Plainfield, N. J., February 13, 1843.

His preparatory education was received at the Pennington, N. J., Seminary. His college work at Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn. He returned to Pennington, where for a time he taught mathematics. The urge to the pastorate soon overcame him and he sought a pulpit. It was not long until they were seeking him. He served churches in the New Jersey, Genesee, Philadelphia, Newark, and New York East Conferences, where he had great success.

In 1892, on the death of Doctor Mendenhall, Editor of the Methodist Review, the Book Committee chose as his successor Doctor Kelley. In 1896 he was elected by the General Conference, and they continued to do so until, by reason of ill health, in 1920 they chose another. Thus he served for twenty-seven years.

Doctor Kelley was a man of the highest type in every way. As a preacher he was a master, handling the Word of Life in a way to attract and deeply move the people. As a pastor he was greatly beloved. The people became so attached to him that he was called to baptize, marry, and bury to the third generation. He was a wonderful adviser on many phases of life that perplex young men and women, and many older ones. They visited him at his office or his home, or he wrote them letters. Many would have found it difficult to get an education for the work of life had this generous-hearted man not been at hand. He always spoke of these as his "children." To them they had special names: his "Baptismal Child" (whose care he had the last eight years of his life); his "Jordan Water Baby"; his "Little Gold Girl"; his "Soldier Girl," and a host of others. He had a fatherly affection for all of them.

Doctor Joy said of him in The Christian Advocate: "He had the fine art of reaching out to certain young men and grappling their spirits to his in lifelong intimacy. By conversations and by letters, he had a way, as Dr. Lynn Harold Hough has said, 'of putting a bit of new light into a young man's eye.' He kept in his mind a list of men, 'his boys,' he still called them, though their hairs are graying now, into whose eyes he had put more than a bit of light, and who will forever love him as a father. Some of them are Bishops now, here and in Asia, some have been secretaries and editors, some preach every Sabbath to throngs who cannot know the source of the habit of sympathetic understanding, and the practice of literary art, which are so much of the charm of the preacher and his sermon."

Wonderful man: he has passed out of our sight into the glory of the celestial life, where he doubtless has renewed earthly friendships that will now be eternal. We miss him, but hope to meet him.
